Lt. Gen. (Dr.) N. S. Malik, PVSM, Former Deputy Chief of Army Staff visits Sahyadri

“ Lt. Gen. (Dr.) N. S. Malik galvanized the students and urged them with patriotic fervour to be an Indian first and build a strong India. ”

Lt. Gen. (Dr.) N. S. Malik, PVSM, Former Deputy Chief of Army Staff, accompanied by Former Lt. Gen. P. G. Kamath, PVSM, AVSM, YSM, SM, Commandant Army War College, Brigadier Narayan Singh Malik and Prof. G. S. Murthy, visited the Campus. They were received by Dr. U. M. Bhushi, Principal, and Prof. M. N. Nayak, Administrator and were taken around the Campus by the Principal and the Administrator. As he entered the gates of Sahyadri, Lt. Gen. (Dr.) N. S. Malik, was extremely pleased to see the college and the surroundings and said that, “This is how a college should be.” He even stopped and spoke to several students and was happy to see them with so many smiles.

The former Deputy Chief of Army Staff later interacted with the student community and the teaching fraternity to spread awareness on National Security Issues. In his address to the gathering, he spoke about the threats and challenges that face the nation and what the youth as the Future of India will have to do to confront these issues. With his vast experience spanning over four decades in the Indian Army he told the gathering that India has it all; the Comprehensive National Power which encompasses the hard power, the economic, the political, the social, and the military; but how astutely and where exactly we use both the hard power and the soft power is what will lead India far and beyond. All it needs he said was the right leadership and the youth of today can carry us on with it. Lt. Gen. (Dr.) N. S. Malik galvanized the students and urged them with patriotic fervour to be an Indian first and build a strong India.

Advocate P. P. Hegde, a well-known advocate of the High Court of Karnataka who also accompanied the delegates, spoke to the gathering and urged them to join hands to make a united, undivided India with strong leadership and make it a super power to be reckoned with.

Dr. Umesh M. Bhushi, Principal, asked the students and the audience to get into the act and introspect on making India a strong and powerful nation. He said that at least twice in a year; once on Independence Day and the other on Republic Day, we should with gratitude, learn to hoist the National Flag in remembrance of all the soldiers and the great leaders who gave us a free India.

Lt. Gen. (Dr.) N. S. Malik was delighted to be given the opportunity to interact with the DREAMERS Club members. He motivated the team and said that it was in their hands now to take India forward with research and technology. He was excited to learn of their inventions and the concept of the hydrographic vehicle for surveillance of the sea shore. He congratulated the team on the many accolades they had received. It may be recalled that the members of the club have been making the headlines for winning several competitions in the prestigious IITs such as IIT, Kharagpur and IIT, Chennai. Team "DREAMERS" won First Prize in the National Students Space Challenge-13 (NSSC13) held at IIT-Kharagpur, the Best Team Award in the Lunar Rover Challenge organized by team Indus, hosted by IIT, Madras, the second place in the IIT event, "Kshitij 2013" for their design "the DREAM Overhaul," and the second place in the event 'Lakshman Rekha (line following robot)', a national level technical fest organised by SNIST, Hyderabad.

Lt. Gen. P. G. Kamath also shared a story with the team with a moral and asked the team to have self-esteem and always use obstacles as opportunities to grow in life and to build a stronger nation.

Mr. P. P. Hegde, Advocate of the High Court of Karnataka and the president of the all-India president of Youth for Nation (YFN) interacted with team DREAMERS and emphasised on the role of leadership in the progress of the nation and invited them to visit his office. The members of the Club enjoyed their interaction with all the dignitaries.

Lt. Gen. (Dr.) N. S. Malik, planted a cocos nucifera (coconut) sapling in the Campus and the entire team was bid farewell by the Principal and the Administrator. The General left with a promise to tell other colleges to, "Go and see Sahyadri."
