Sahyadri Science Talent Hunt - SSTH

The Government of India has felt the need to initiate and encourage student interest in Science & Technology. IITs and IISc began organizing Science Conclaves every year to create awareness and interest among the students. However, organising such a challenging event is a strenuous affair due to a high magnitude of institutions in the state. Therefore, Sahyadri College of Engineering & Management feels that it is its responsibility to take this up as an initiative and has started Sahyadri Science Talent Hunt-SSTH.

Sahyadri Science Talent Hunt is an annual gathering in which eminent national and international scientists provide a platform for free interaction to young students and teachers in order to showcase the excitement of scientific works and investigations which will in turn motivate them to take up the study of science as their career.

The main objective of this program is to provide a platform for exhibiting new ideas and the creative work of young talent of PU/+2 colleges, creating curiosity towards science and latest technologies along with exchange of views and ideas with their peer group.

Objectives

- To inspire, motivate and give thrust to Scientific and Technological Education, Research and Development.
- To bring together scientists, technocrats and students in a relaxed and informal atmosphere and encourage meaningful dialogue amongst themselves.
- To organize personal encounters with eminent scientists of different generations and cultures.
- To continue to enhance Scientific and Technological Education leading to the developmental growth of the country.

Message from the Chairman's desk

I am extremely happy to note that Sahyadri College of Engineering & Management conducted the first edition of Sahyadri Science Talent Hunt (SSTH) which is an initiative to bring out the hidden talents of students at pre-university level. The event was very well organized and was appreciated by the participants and their parents. More than 1200 students from all over Karnataka and Kerala took part in the various events.

Sahyadri has created a platform for the students of rural background to come up and exhibit their talents, which otherwise would be a dream for them. The Government of India has numerous schemes to enlighten the student's strength, talent, etc., but it normally will not reach the students of rural areas. Keeping this in mind, Sahyadri has started an initiative of helping the students so that they may be thoroughly groomed in their Project Work, Research, etc.

The last edition of Talent Hunt has provided enough opportunity for all the participants at the Zonal and Inter-zonal levels to enhance their scientific and technical skills and has created awareness among other students as well. Interaction with eminent scientists and personalities from various industries made them realize the importance of Project Work, Research, etc. in the field of current technology. I wish that this edition of Talent Hunt would help more and more students to understand the current avenues in the field of science & technology.

Message from SSTH Chief Coordinator

To create awareness on the importance of Projects & Research among the student community of pre-university level, Sahyadri College of Engineering & Management started a unique activity called Sahyadri Science Talent Hunt (SSTH). Since, the number of technical institutions across the country is huge, any support or financial schemes of Government of India to support projects may not reach all the students. As such, Sahyadri felt the necessity of giving assistance to students to groom their skills and enhance their knowledge.

The events conducted at Zonal and Inter-zonal levels really boosted the confidence of students and created an awareness to realize the importance of Science & Technology in the present era. The platform created by Sahyadri has really helped the students to come up and engage themselves to actively participate in various competitions. The event made the principals and faculty coordinators of various colleges to think beyond academics and resulted in good projects.

I think an event of this kind is really a necessity for an individual to be aware of the present scenario and keep him competitive in the society. As a coordinator of this event, I am keen to look beyond what we have achieved in the last edition. Thanks to the wholehearted support given by the Management, the Director, the Principal, the Deans, the HODs, the faculty members-both teaching & non-teaching and the student community of the college in organizing an event of such magnitude and seek their extended help in the current edition.

Grand Finale - Sahyadri Science Talent Hunt-2014

The Grand Finale of Sahyadri Science Talent Hunt-2014 was inaugurated by Mr. K Srinivasan Venkat (KVS), Tech Mahindra. In his inaugural address, he said that he was happy to be a part of SSTH-2014 and called upon the students to extract as much as they could from the event for their future. He said, "Do it now. Sometime later it becomes never." Dr. T. G. Sitharam, IISc., Bengaluru, Dr. Abhishek Vaish, IIIT-Allahabad and Dr. S. Ananth Raj, Vision Group on Science & Technology, Bengaluru, were the Guests of Honour.

Our Chairman in his presidential address, conveyed his joy to the students by saying that it was his vision and thanked the chief co-ordinator and all the faculty members who made this event come true. In his motivating speech, he said that along with academics, talent, intelligence and passion are very important. He called upon the students to use the platform provided by Sahyadri and interact with eminent invitees and develop their knowledge. The SSTH will be an annual event with Sahyadri College of Engineering & Management having earmarked Rs. 1.5 crores every year to fund student projects. Dr. Umesh M. Bhushi, Principal, welcomed the dignitaries and the gathering. In his enlightening speech he said that the aim of the College was to change rote learning into learning through projects.

Science talent hunt on November 15

MANGALURU: The mega event of Sahyadri Science Talent Hunt 2014, organised by Sahyadri College of Engineering and Management in association with Karnataka Research Centre, will be held at the Sahyadri college campus here on November 15.

According to a press release, the annual level competitions of Talent Hunt was held at various places in Karnataka and Kerala. Some of the PU Colleges which participated in the talent hunt were St. JCHM College, Stagesi, GHSS Kattamath Kanhangal, GHSS Bhandary Kasargod, Vikas PU College, Mangalore, Expert P U College, Mangalore, Yesepeya PU College, Mangalore, Shimoga DVS Composite PU College, Shimoga, Iqbal HSS Kaniyangad, Tanbehel Iqbal, Nainamurda, Kasargod, GHSS Cherkala, HSS, Channachal, Chemnad Junath HSS, Chemnad, Sri Venkataranama Swamy Pre University College, Banawal, Excellent Moodbidri, St. Agnes PU College, St. Aloysius PU College, Mangalore and SSPU College, Subramanya.

The event witnessed good number of quality projects and models in all the zonal centers. The essay writing and quiz competitions attracted the crowd. The students participated with great spirit and enthusiasm in all the centres.

Chairman of Sahyadri Educational Institutions Manjunath Bhandary said the Government of India has left the need to initiate and encourage the interest of students in Science and Technology and they have started funding the programmes. Hence, IITs and IISCs started organising Science Conclave every year to create awareness and interest among the students. However, as it is not possible for them to reach out to every student, Sahyadri college initiated the Talent Hunt. For each institution, Sahyadri College of Engineering and Management is spending Rs 50,000 which includes the prize money. The three prize winners from each competition of every institution will participate in the level II, a mega event, which will be held at the Sahyadri Campus. Around 750 students are expected to participate in this mega event. The participants will have the first hand opportunity to interact with engineering students, faculty members and also they will witness a host of engineering projects.

MICROSOFT: Sahyadri is the first institute in the state to be a platinum partner of Microsoft initiative, Ed-vantage program, through which internships and placement opportunities are offered to students.

Microsoft Innovation Center (MIC) has state-of-the-art technological facilities for collaboration on innovative research, technology and software solutions, with the support of government, academia and industry.

JSW Steel has offered internship opportunities every year to 50 students from Mechanical and Civil branches. The interested students after completion of their internship are absorbed.

Intel Intelligent System Lab is setup by Intel for the knowledge enhancement of students and faculty members of Electronics and Computer Science Department on creativity and innovation.

Tech Vision

Tech Vision is the annual intra-college project exhibition cum competition aimed at bringing young minds together to collaborate their technical skills and abilities allowing research and innovation to blossom in the interesting fields of Engineering & Technology. These projects are evaluated by reputed scientists and experts from academia and industries. Every year 'Tech Vision' witnesses more than 250 to 300 projects carried out and presented by students motivating them to excel and innovate, producing better ideas for a better tomorrow.

Department of Projects and Funding

The Department of Projects and Funding is aimed to initiate and motivate the students towards the projects, innovations and development of technologies. The institution provides funds of more than Rupees One crore per year for supporting projects of students. This improves the analytical and thinking ability and ensures the overall development of the students, culminating into placement and entrepreneurship. The project activities, workshops, seminars and paper presentation are included in the curriculum in order to promote advanced learning.

Student Project Support Scheme - SPSS

This funding scheme ignites the innovations of the students and encourages them to take up project activities in the field of Science and Technology.

The objective of this scheme is to create and update the general creativities of the students of various branches of the college. The funding is based on the level and interdisciplinary nature of the projects.

I Year Students: 50 - Small Scale Projects

III year Students: 20 - Large Scale Interdisciplinary Projects
